

Privacy policy

This Privacy policy takes effect on 3rd of December 2021 and can be amended from time to time.

We would like to inform users of our website about which of your personal data are processed, and how. According to the GDPR and UK GDPR, any information that identifies you, or can be used to identify you – such as your name, address, email address, user behaviour, or even your IP address – counts as personal data.

When delivering the content of this website or interacting with you, it is therefore unavoidable that we will be processing and sometimes storing some of your personal data. We may need to share it with third-party entities in order to provide the content of this website and to improve it. In case of any concerns about the processing of your personal data, please don't hesitate to contact us at reception@practice.legal.

Your rights

You are entitled to the following rights towards us regarding your personal data:

- Right to information
- Right to rectification or deletion
- Right to restriction of processing
- Right to object to the processing
- Right to data portability

To exercise your rights, we kindly ask you to address any queries to us using the contact details provided above.

You also have the right to complain to the data protection supervisory authorities about our processing of your personal data.

You may object to processing of your data in the case if said processing is not required for fulfilling a contract to which you are a party. When exercising such an objection, we ask you to specify the reasons arising from your personal situation as to why we should not process your personal data in the manner we intend. In the event of your justified objection, we will examine the situation and either cease to process your data, or adjust data processing, or share with you our compelling legitimate grounds for continuing to process your data.

If you have consented to the processing of your data, you may withdraw such consent at any time, without affecting the lawfulness of processing based on consent before its withdrawal.

Collection of personal data during your visit to our website

When you visit our website for information purposes only, i.e. if you do not register or otherwise provide information to us, we only collect the personal data that your browser transmits to our server. When you visit our website we will collect the following data, which are technically necessary for us to display our website to you and to ensure stability and security (the legal basis being art. 6 (1) 1 lit. f GDPR or UK GDPR):

- IP address
- Date and time of the request
- Time zone difference to Greenwich Mean Time (GMT)
- Content of the request (specific page)
- Access status/HTTP status code
- Website transmitting the request
- Websites accessed by the user's system via our website
- Bytes downloaded
- Browser
- Operating system and interface

- Language and version of the browser software

The above data will be stored temporary and after which it will be deleted. In case of any malevolent or criminal access, we reserve the right to store said data for further evaluation for a period of up to one year.

Contacting us by email or by Membership Application Request form

When you contact us by email or by Membership Application Request form, we will be able to collect, store, analyse, modify, share with third parties the data you provide (including without limitation, your email address, your name, telephone number, and your message) in order to answer your query, better understand your needs, propose to you a professional or other advice, enter into the membership admission procedure.

We process this data to respond to your request or queries. Said processing takes place for the purposes of our legitimate interests (art. 6 (1) 1 lit. f GDPR or UK GDPR), as it enables us to communicate with you in a satisfactory manner.
